

Irwin Mitchell Solicitors Case Study

Irwin Mitchell Solicitors opened its new Bristol office in May 2010 offering an unrivalled level of legal service in the fields of personal injury, clinical negligence, Court of Protection and family law in Bristol.

Established in 1912 initially in Sheffield, the newest of the offices in Bristol is located at One Castlepark in the heart of Bristol's city centre and marks the eighth UK office. It aims to provide better access for clients to their specialist legal teams and marks the launch of an ambitious growth plan for the practice in the region.

The move into Bristol not only enhances Irwin Mitchell's reputation as a significant provider of Personal Injury law in the South West but will also enable clients in this important region to access the full range of legal services provided by Irwin Mitchell.

The office has expanded rapidly in its first year and has ambitious plans for further expansion over the next 12 months in all areas. The firm has managed to identify and recruit a talented and high calibre workforce from Bristol and the South West area and hopes to continue to do so as it grows.

Regional Managing Partner, Jonathan Peacock comments "Bristol is a vibrant commercial city and we are delighted to have set down roots here in order to carry forward the strength and breadth of service that Irwin Mitchell has to offer to the people of Bristol and the South West and we have been overwhelmed with the warmth of the welcome we have received since our arrival".
